Dear Friends,

L. Zac Isaac
Chair

“For everything there is a season... a time to break down, and a time to build up... a time to seek, and a time to lose.” These words, penned by an ancient sage centuries ago, are just as true today as when they were written. Looking back on 2020, we can see a year when their truth was inescapable, when we discovered just how important it could be to prepare for a season of breakdown and loss.

But thanks to the hundreds of generous individuals and organizations, both past and present, who have supported others through the Greater Toledo Community Foundation, 2020 was also a time of building up and of seeking — and finding — new ways to meet pressing human needs.

Our opening story about GTCF’s response to the pandemic shows how the Foundation’s existing capacity and relationships had real impact in a time of crisis, enabling the rapid deployment of resources to community organizations serving those most profoundly affected by COVID-19. While GTCF played an essential role, this could not have happened without the many deeply concerned donors who supported these efforts with their gifts of time, treasure and talent.

Keith Burwell
President

Our donor profiles on pages 8 and 9 show how generosity coupled with imagination can do amazing things. These stories illustrate the characteristically open-hearted nature of those who have established charitable funds with GTCF. We are profoundly grateful that so many in our northwest Ohio region exemplify this willingness to share their blessings with others.

As we look ahead to a post-COVID future, we recognize just how much work is still ahead of us. Our confrontation with the pandemic brought us face to face with the urgent need to redefine the word “essential” and re-imagine what is meant by community. We’ve been asked, “Why create an endowed fund at the Foundation?” COVID-19 provides a clear answer to that question. We honor the willingness of the many organizations and individuals recognized in this report to help bring about a future of prosperity and hope. Their examples show how every season is truly a time to give.

Sincerely,

pandemic response

A coalition of funders joined GTCF's commitment of resources from the Community Endowment Funds to support the COVID-19 Response Fund. The fund was activated and administered at GTCF and awarded more than $500,000 in grants over a four month period to 65 nonprofits. This fund was designed to support immediate basic needs of economically vulnerable populations caused by closure and cancellations related to COVID-19, the elderly and other high-risk populations who were experiencing a COVID-19 impact, residents who were food insecure, residents who had no medical insurance or who were underinsured. Pandemic relief also came in the form of donor advised grants directly from fundholders, which increased over the same period last year.

The Community Resilience Fund was started with $200,000 from GTCF's Community Endowment Funds. Later, fundholders also contributed to this fund, which allowed GTCF to award grants totaling $247,824 to 19 area nonprofit organizations. This fund was designed to address long-term recovery efforts of individuals and organizations as a result of the COVID outbreak; to thoughtfully deploy resources to (1) community-based organizations providing services that assist residents in stabilizing their lives after experiencing impacts caused by the outbreak, and (2) organizations restructuring their service delivery and agency operations based on lessons learned from the coronavirus pandemic.

The Toledo Plus One Fund of the Greater Toledo Community Foundation was a co-created donor initiative that supported feeding local healthcare workers and first-responders. GTCF disbursed $72,053.76 from this fund to 16 area restaurants to serve healthy meals to frontline workers during the pandemic. The Toledo Plus One Fund is an example of our community philanthropy in action. Two donors created the fund and worked with GTCF to raise money to address a need in our community, while the Foundation provided a donor service by paying for credit card processing fees and absorbed the administrative costs of the fund – all for the good of our community during a time of crisis and great need.

In the time of the COVID-19 crisis, grants from the COVID-19 Response Fund and the Community Resilience Fund of the Greater Toledo Community Foundation were vital to Toledo regional nonprofit organizations.

Here's what Anne Grady Services had to say about their grant:

"The money that we got from GTCF's COVID-19 Response Fund allowed us to purchase materials that we have been using to train individuals for their jobs. These jobs with our new recycling program allowed us to replace some of the individuals' jobs that were lost due to the pandemic. Further, this grant money was used in partnership with funds we received from the First Solar Corporate Charitable Foundation of the Greater Toledo Community Foundation, which were used to purchase materials that were used to initiate the program such as the recycling bins, shredders and can crushers. Then, the money from the Community Resilience Fund allowed us to purchase additional materials that trained the individuals on their specific jobs. Items such as iPads, projectors and screens allow us to accommodate the various learning needs of the individuals we serve. All of these items have helped them to learn the new job and become working members of their community again. The individuals take so much pride in their jobs and are truly loving the recycling!"

ymca envisioning w

She continued, “It’s well-known that more than 60% of children entering kindergarten in Ohio are not ready to learn. Our goal was to have every child kindergarten-ready, and pre-COVID we had been making tremendous progress. We had more than 20 centers serving 1300 to 1500 kids each day from 10 area school districts, with about 86% of kids in our programs at ready-to-learn levels.”

Then on March 25, all early childcare centers were ordered to close — and the Y’s forward momentum suddenly halted. “We received pandemic licensing but maintaining capacity to re-open was a challenge. We had to change health and safety practices as well as cleaning procedures and spent a lot of time and expense to make those work,” said Lesley. “At first, we were able to keep only four centers open and could accept only about 200 youngsters from families of essential workers.”

Pre-pandemic, the Y was also working inside elementary schools, providing wrap-around before- and after-school care — and again, the Y adapted. “We worked directly with school districts in the past, so we were an entity the schools could lean on for support,” said Lesley. “We transitioned our early childcare stand-alone services to accommodate working families with school-aged kids who needed daytime supervision.”

Lesley observed that GTCF funding was vital to sustaining the YMCA’S childcare activities during the peak months of the pandemic. “Some of the funds helped us provide staff to facilitate virtual learning. Kids needed a lot of help with that, especially at the very beginning,” she noted.

“And, about 50% of our kids are on some kind of assistance, such as state funds or YMCA scholarships, and paid by attendance, rather than enrollment. This was tough because student attendance was very inconsistent,” she explained. “The other 50% of families couldn’t budget for

As one of the Toledo area’s leading family-focused community agencies, the YMCA of Greater Toledo has had a long relationship with Greater Toledo Community Foundation. When the COVID-19 pandemic upended the lives of so many served by the Y, the established partnership became more important than ever.

Rewriting the script for childcare

“GTCF had been helping support our early childhood programs that serve infants, toddlers and preschoolers by enabling us to improve teaching practices and program quality, as well as hiring a teacher mentor to implement curriculum programs,” said Lesley Doria, YMCA Vice President of Child Care. “The whole culture in our early childhood programs had changed in a positive direction.”

ays to meet community needs kids to be out of school the entire time. Going from $60 or $80 a week for part-time to $140 for full-time is a big jump up. GTCF funding allowed us to expand services to kids without passing costs along to families.”

Feeding the newly hungry

When many formerly self-sufficient families found themselves under financial stress, GTCF funding also supported expanded food distribution and hot meals for families at various YMCA facilities across the region.

Beth Deakins, YMCA's Director of Healthy Living, explained the Y's role of distribution in a collaborative effort to provide meals to families in need. “We work with Summer Meal Partners, a group that provides kids with food when school is not in session, Connecting Kids to Meals, and A Village on Adams / Manhattan's Catering, both of which provide the bulk of meals for children in after-school programs, sports programs that feed participating kids, and YMCA sites,” she said.

With pandemic restrictions in place, the Y and their partners no longer could provide the in-person, family-meal experiences that were their norm. But hot meals that families could enjoy together was still the focus. And, with the GTCF grant, the program expanded from one to three meals a day — so when parents came to pick up lunches, they would also get something for dinner and breakfast for the following day.

“We saw the same faces and families over and over,” said Beth. “They told us that sharing breakfast, lunch and dinner together when the parents were unable to work made a big difference. Because of the GTCF funding we received, we built new relationships with families that typically wouldn't have needed assistance.

“In some cases, families weren't even really able to cook,” Beth added. “One of the barriers we consistently saw were families that didn't even have the means to cook — like a working stove or oven, or pots and pans — or families who had the utilities turned off because they were unable to pay the bills. The hot meals that the Y was able to provide helped parents fill the gap even though they didn't personally have the means to make that happen.”

GTCF grant supports sustained service

“When it was announced that schools were going to go remote and food access at schools would no longer be available to them, the Y network pulled together to ask, ‘What are the locations where we could start something immediately?’” said Beth. Right away, Wayman Palmer and Eastern Community Y, serving Oregon & East Toledo residents, were added, as were the West Toledo and Wolf Creek locations a few weeks later, with Panera as an additional meal-prep supporter.

“GTCF funding came through quickly, and the actual dollars lasted us through October. But, because of the funding we got, we were able to put some things in place to help us sustain the programs,” said Beth. “Food insecurity issues are not going away. Food access has been an issue in our community for some time, and the GTCF grant has provided resources to building systems and structures that will help address these issues going forward.”

Beth also acknowledged the service of countless volunteers, some of whom were actually furloughed YMCA employees and older community members who were among the most at risk of contracting COVID-19. “It's passion work,” she noted. “The strength of relationship and collaboration in Toledo really pushed us ahead in the pandemic and gave us an opportunity to build people up at a time when things were crumbling beneath us.” Added Lesley, “Shifting our programs to meet shifting needs was how we kept going.”

Meg and Dick Ressler

Like so many who relocate from a big city to Toledo, Meg and Dick Ressler discovered it was a place where they could have a special kind of impact. “Dick and I met in Chicago while with Owens-Corning (OC), and moved here in 1989,” said Meg. “We fell hard for Toledo because we realized we could make a real difference here.”

Thanks in part to Meg’s prior involvement with the OC Foundation, the Resslers are very strategic about their giving — so the couple’s philanthropic commitment to Toledo was a deciding factor in establishing a fund with GTCF. “When our financial advisor suggested we create a donor advised fund, we could have done that with any wealth management firm, and we vetted all those options,” she noted. “But GTCF is a leader in the community that is making a difference for Toledo — so if we were going to do this, we wanted to do it with them.”

Maintaining a philanthropic focus is another priority for the Resslers. “I had my causes, he had his — but with our fund, we said no, we’re going to make an impact with the things we care about as a family. Deciding that was the hard part. After you decide that, the Foundation makes it easy,” she noted.

While also reserving a portion of their resources to support friends’ causes, the Resslers have dedicated their volunteer work and giving to women’s empowerment, autism, the Evans Scholar program for young golf caddies, and the new collaboration between First Tee of Lake Erie and the Boys & Girls Clubs of Toledo serving youth in the Rogers-McTigue learning community. But when COVID-19 brought a halt to community activities, Meg found a new way to support Toledo with the creation of another fund at GTCF.

“During COVID, my friend Annie and I were staying connected with Zoom coffee chats,” she explained. “We were talking about how lucky we both were — and Annie said ‘We’ve got to do something. What if we raised money to pay the restaurants to make food to serve the hospitals and first responders ... they can be our ‘plus one’ for a meal.”

After their Zoom call, Meg promptly emailed several restaurateurs about the idea — and within a week of creating the Toledo Plus One Fund, more than $20,000 in donations had come into the Fund and delivery of hot, restaurant-grade meals for hospitals and first responders began. Toledo Plus One raised more than $70,000, funding more than 4,100 meals.

Meg cites three reasons for opening a family fund at GTCF. “First, it was a witness to the difference that GTCF makes in Toledo — it fits our ‘supporting Toledo’ strategy. They’ve also been incredibly helpful — we couldn’t have done Toledo Plus One if we didn’t have the Foundation to make it work. We trust them to manage our funds wisely. And, we want the flexibility tax-wise to release the money when we need to, in a way that is consistent with our strategy. Our GTCF fund makes all of that possible.”

The Hugh David and Dana White Family

When Stephanie White encouraged her father, Dave, to establish what became the Hugh David & Dana White Family Fund with Greater Toledo Community Foundation, she had no idea she would be one of the advisors of that fund so soon after it was established.

Both Stephanie and her dad had begun their own funds in 2019. “Our family did quite a bit of charitable giving, both privately and through the car dealership, but didn’t publicize it,” said Stephanie. “My parents supported all kinds of causes. They were both outdoor people who loved animals, so that was a special focus of their giving, but they also supported many other things, like education, the arts and health care.”

Her parents’ generosity was something they instilled in the younger generations in their family, too. “Some time ago, Dad started giving our family members gifts to give to charity,” said Stephanie. “We each received an amount that we had to donate — and we had to give away all of it.”

After a few years, Stephanie decided to manage her charitable gifts with a fund at GTCF. “Our family had several good friends who were involved with the Foundation since day one,” she said. “I was also in Sylvania Rotary with Mike George, GTCF’s VP of Philanthropic Services & Advancement at the time, so I was comfortable having the discussion.”

After multiple conversations, Dave, Sr. decided to follow Stephanie in establishing a fund at GTCF. Dave, Sr. elected to establish a donor advised fund, while Stephanie chose a donor directed pooled fund. “We had considered establishing our own foundation,” noted Stephanie, “but after talking to GTCF, we saw we could do the same type of work without having to do the work of managing the funds.”

But just a few months later, Dave, Sr. had an unexpected health crisis. “Dad had COVID-19 in July of last year and came through it like a champ,” said Stephanie. “Then shortly after that, while I was out in Wyoming for business, I got a call from him saying ‘I just got diagnosed with esophageal cancer.’”

Dave, Sr., Stephanie and her brother Dave, Jr., headed at once to M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston for Dave’s treatment. After a number of weeks undergoing out-of-town treatment, Dave decided to continue his treatment back in Toledo where he could enjoy the end of duck-hunting season and time with his brothers and family.

Sadly, Dave, Sr. lost his battle with cancer in January of this year. “My dad would have been 84 on February 1 this year, and you would never have known it. He was an active sportsman and only four weeks before he passed away, he was duck hunting. My mom, Dana, had traveled to Kenya less than a year before she passed from cancer. That’s one reason why we’ve been avid supporters of the American Cancer Society.”

Now Stephanie and her brother, Dave, are the successor advisors to their parents’ fund. “Our plan is to continue doing what we’ve always been doing. Our entire family has had a history of generosity. I think Mom and Dad would trust us to make sure it was ‘done right’ and honor the family traditions.”

*T*ake a moment to consider the important part you might play in Greater Toledo Community Foundation's work by creating a charitable fund. There are many ways to get started, and we invite you to explore them with your family, your professional advisor and with Foundation staff.

The Foundation offers a variety of ways for you to make donations to reach your philanthropic goals. You can establish your own fund at the Foundation either during your lifetime or through your estate plan. All grants distributed from your fund – today and in the future – are awarded to charities, as determined by you, in the name of your fund.

Your gift to the Foundation may be made in many forms. Corporations and businesses are limited to gifts of cash, securities, closely-held stock, limited partnership interests and real estate. You and your family have even more options to consider.

Vehicles for Giving

A cash gift is tax deductible as provided under current law.

Donations of appreciated publicly-traded securities are accepted. This type of gift avoids capital gains tax and allows the maximum tax deduction for the full market value of the gift. The Foundation also accepts closely-held stock and limited partnership interests.

A bequest in your will is a simple way to leave a lasting legacy.

A life insurance policy can be changed to designate the Foundation as the owner and/or beneficiary of a policy.

Retirement fund accounts are often your largest asset. You can give all or part of these assets to the Foundation, both during your lifetime and/or at your death.

Real estate (land, primary residences, vacation homes or farm land) can be donated to the Foundation and deducted at full fair market value, up to 30 percent of your adjusted gross income. The Foundation sells the real estate and the net proceeds capitalize a new fund or are added to an existing fund. Similarly, tangible personal property can be donated to the Foundation, which is also then sold.

Four Simple Steps to Establish Your Fund

Define your charitable goals.

Decide if you want family members involved, both now and/or in the future. Consider how much involvement you want in selecting the charitable organizations that will receive grants from your fund. Think about how much you want to give in charitable contributions each year.

to discuss the fund option or options (described in the Existing Funds section, pages 20-29) that best suit your interests and needs. We can create a personalized plan, including the appropriate legal and other documentation, which makes giving simple and relevant.

Determine which asset or giving vehicle you will use to start your fund.

Evaluate the options of lifetime assets versus planned giving assets – or a combination of the two.

Select a name for your fund.

Many donors choose a family name, a name that honors or memorializes a loved one or a company name.

A charitable remainder trust allows you (or other named beneficiaries) to receive lifetime income. Upon your death, the remaining principal creates a fund at the Foundation. You receive an immediate charitable deduction for a portion of the gift and avoid capital gains tax.

A charitable lead trust creates income for the Foundation for a specified period, after which the remaining principal is distributed to named beneficiaries. Gift and estate taxes are reduced with this type of gift.

Transfer of a private foundation affords you many advantages, including lower overhead, staff to assist with your charitable goals and a higher tax deduction for any future gift, to name only a few.

Getting Started

We also provide expert guidance in defining a philanthropic mission, structuring charitable gifts and putting mission into action. Whether it's a simple gift fund or a supporting organization, a wealth of financial and philanthropic expertise is available. Whatever your charitable goal, we can help you achieve it.

The Center for Corporate & Business Philanthropy

We know that, over time, our community's needs and opportunities change and nonprofit organizations have emerged and grown in large numbers to address these issues. Many organizations seek help with capacity and sustainability – the kind of support they need to achieve their missions.

The Center for Nonprofit Resources

helps nonprofit organizations advance their missions through expert guidance and a wide array of services, training and educational opportunities. Services offered by The Center include professional development, technical assistance, on-demand resources, professional services and community engagement.

The Center also offers two professional certificate programs. The Certificate in Nonprofit Management provides the fundamentals an individual needs to build their skills in nonprofit management. The Minority Executive Leadership Certificate program is designed to support emerging nonprofit leaders, specifically minority CEOs/Executive Directors and staff interested in growing into these positions. A combination of high-quality professional development courses and mentorships provide training and an ongoing support system for personal and professional success.

If you or an agency you care about could benefit from The Center's offerings, you are encouraged to call Heather Bradley, Director, The Center for Nonprofit Resources, at 419.241.9513. Information about professional development offerings can be found at toledocf.org or The Center's website at c4npr.org.

Created in 1975, the Dr. Morton Goldberg Lecture Fund is used to promote understanding and positive relations among individuals from diverse racial, ethnic and religious backgrounds, with an emphasis on Judaic studies. We Can Help

We share our donors' commitment to building healthy communities and promoting the responsible stewardship of resources. Community and Field of Interest Funds respond to changing times and connect personal values to grantmaking

A Community Fund is the broadest option and leaves the decisions about your gift to the Foundation. You trust the Foundation's extensive experience and knowledge of the community to identify the most pressing needs and effective programs. A Community Fund provides maximum assurance a fund will remain timely and relevant. Grants from these funds are given to qualified organizations to support the well-being and vitality of our region and its residents.

A Field of Interest Fund allows you to direct funding to specific causes (the environment, youth programs or the arts, for instance) or geographical areas (a town, county or region) that you feel strongly about, yet it does not restrict grants to any one particular organization. Field of Interest Funds support issues or areas that are important to you in perpetuity.

Choosing a fund option that is right for you

There are many flexible ways to support your interests — the choice is yours.

How involved do you want to be in your grantmaking? Do you want to give to a specific organization or a specific area of interest? Launch a scholarship to honor or memorialize a loved one? Restrict your giving to northwest Ohio and/or fund internationally? Create or continue your business giving program? Whatever your giving goals, there is a fund option for you.

The Foundation offers a number of fund options for you, your family, businesses and nonprofit organizations. A fund at the Foundation operates like a private foundation, but without the administrative and legal burdens associated with private foundations. The funds are flexible and you decide how much or how little you want to be involved in making grants.

Throughout this section, you'll see descriptions of each type of fund followed by acknowledgement of those in our community who have chosen such a fund to support their philanthropy.

Donor Advised Funds

engage with your giving

A Donor Advised Fund provides maximum flexibility for your grantmaking, allowing designated advisors (named by you) to make recommendations regarding grants from your fund. While you take a more active role in your grantmaking (whether local, national or international), the Foundation facilitates compliance with financial, legal and tax requirements. The Foundation also helps develop grantmaking strategies, articulates funding guidelines and conducts due diligence, relieving you of the administrative responsibilities associated with charitable giving. If you wish, the Foundation helps you identify additional organizations that you might consider supporting.

Types of Donor Advised Funds

You have several options:

- Individual advised fund • Allows only you to make grant recommendations.
- Family advised fund • Provides a simple and popular way for your family to engage in organized philanthropy.
- Corporate advised fund • Offers flexible options for your business and/or employees' charitable giving programs. Your company or business can outsource all, or any part, of its charitable giving program to the Foundation for management. You can endow your fund, requiring that the principal of the fund remains untouched and only a percentage of the annual earnings on the fund are available for grantmaking; or you can create a growth fund (non-endowed) allowing the flexibility to distribute both fund principal and annual earnings, although not below the minimum required fund balance of $10,000.

Supporting Organization Funds

partner with the Foundation for access to community information

A Supporting Organization is a separate and distinct legal and grantmaking entity that is in direct affiliation with the Foundation. It maintains its own board of trustees which has decision-making authority relevant to grant recipients and other matters. A Supporting Organization's alliance with the Foundation reduces administrative, investment and regulatory burdens. Family involvement, individual attention, flexibility, professional staffing and access to community information are among the key reasons that families and businesses create supporting organizations at Greater Toledo Community Foundation.

Every year, Greater Toledo Community Foundation accepts donations of varying amounts from a broad range of individuals who each have their own purposes for giving. Collectively, they help the Foundation achieve its mission to make our region a better place in which to live, work and raise a family. We are grateful, honored and pleased to recognize them in the following lists.

Listed here are contributors to non-operating funds of the Foundation. Memorial and honorary contributions are listed separately beginning on page 53. The list of contributors to our annual operating campaign – known as our Friends campaign – can be found on pages 50-52.

GTCF builds endowments to address regional needs as they change over time. You can make a tax-deductible contribution to any of these funds, knowing that your support helps GTCF forever.

- Community Economic Opportunities Fund
- Community Education Fund
- Toledo Community Foundation Unrestricted Fund
- Women's Fund

Create a Fund

GTCF offers customized giving solutions and tax-advantaged strategies. We can help you create a plan that's personal, thorough and effective.

Become a Fundholder

A donor advised fund, named or anonymous, may provide tax benefits and a convenient way to consolidate your giving. You can create a fund that benefits a favorite nonprofit or supports students or a particular cause. GTCF can help you decide what fund type is the best fit for your situation and goals.

What to Give

You can give cash, publicly-traded securities, closely held stock, retirement accounts, interest in a limited liability partnership, life insurance, real estate or private foundation assets. Your professional advisors are part of the process, ensuring coordination across your charitable, financial and estate planning.

give later

A bequest is the simplest way to leave a legacy of caring for the issues, organizations or community most important to you during your lifetime. Other planned giving options include Charitable Remainder Trusts or Charitable Lead Trusts.

As you plan, GTCF can provide advice on a range of giving options, centered on your charitable priorities.

Learn more at www.toledocf.org

Discuss your options with our Philanthropic Services team to find the best vehicle to meet your charitable goals.
